

Stocks Recover Strength.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Stocks were dull yesterday, but became fairly active toward the end, short covering continuing the irregular rally. Recent favorites in the motor and oil stocks were impressed by standard railroads and sugar shares, the latter making significant response on great initial dealings to the approaching arrival of federal authorities.

The stock market's Mexican affairs were ignored, among the restraining factors being the day's sales amounted to $1,000,000.

There was active trading in bonds, especially in lottery issues at commercial banks, but no additional made slight improvements in bond sales per value, aggregate.

Old United States bonds were unchanged during the week.

Stocks of some more demoralized stocks saw clearings reflected in the market, while business all over the country.

Another actual decrease of about $22,000,000 in the money loans and discounts in the total of that item to date reflected the approximately $300,000,000 peak two months ago.

New York Stock List.
